

Is my company ready for Watershed?

Do you have unanswered questions about your L&D program?

Watershed aggregates and evaluates data to provide program insights. For example, find out:

- who has completed a customer service training program,
- how much training is left for those who haven't finished the program, and
- if the training program is impacting your customers' satisfaction.

Do you want to quickly create reports about learners?

And no, using Excel doesn't count. Our custom reporting enables you to easily determine:

- who has completed training from a certain group or region,
- who isn't compliant or has an upcoming expiration,
- what your top salespeople are doing when it comes to learning and training, and
- who's using your learning system and what they're doing after they log in.

Do you want to show the impact of your L&D program?

Your CEO says "Tell me about L&D's impact." What's your story? Would you have data to back it up? We'll help you communicate the value of your learning program by showing:

- L&D's contribution to business KPIs,
- how learning is strategically aligned with business goals,
- employees' accomplishments, and
- how employees are developing.

What you'll need to get started:

Watershed is vendor agnostic when it comes to your LMS, website, and applications. That means whether your environment is basic, involved, or comprehensive—we've got you covered.

Watershed connects disparate systems, collects real-time learning data, and presents information in a beautiful, easy-to-use dashboard—enabling you to track and organize everything from user satisfaction to the overall impact of your learning and development programs on the business.

Yep, it's really that easy. We're ready when you are.